15. [] Dorothy Fosdick, Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations staff, called to say Senator Jackson was very much interested in the John Finney story in today's New York Times describing a report which quotes Brezhnev as calling for an extended detente to permit the Communist Bloc an opportunity to achieve overall power position superior to that of the West. She said the Senator would like to know our views of this report and any other information we might have on the same subject.

Later in the day I met with Fosdick []

[] She assured me Senator Jackson would observe these caveats.

I also brought her up-to-date on recent developments regarding Soviet ICBM tests and submarine construction, and on possible access of Arab terrorists to Soviet SA-7 missile launchers.

16. [] Met with Senator Stuart Symington and called his attention to a seriously mischievous and misleading reference in the fall edition of the Congressional Quarterly's "Guide to American Government" accusing General Walters of participating in the Watergate cover up. I told the Senator we thought someone should write to the Editor of the Congressional Quarterly to set him straight and I showed him a suggested text of such a letter. Noting that he himself had made a public statement vindicating the General, I asked if he would be disposed to write such a letter. He said he would like to be helpful but he had his hands full with other matters. He said if I would leave the material with him he would give it some further thought. He did say, however, he would recommend against anyone in the Agency writing such a letter.
